

MinSU Student Access Measures

The bar chart above visualizes the female application, acceptance, and entry rates for two academic years, 2022-2023 and 2023-2024.

Application Rate (in blue): This shows the percentage of female applicants out of the total number of applicants. Both years had similar rates, around 60%.

Acceptance Rate (in red): This reflects the percentage of female students who were accepted among female applicants. The acceptance rate is close to the application rate, indicating a stable selection pattern.

Entry Rate (in green): This rate shows the percentage of female students enrolled out of the total applicants. The entry rate is noticeably lower than the application and acceptance rates, around 35%, which may indicate challenges in converting accepted applications into enrollments.
